AN EXCHANGE OF DISEASES.—In relieving the disease Mercury begets another If it suppresses acute liver disease, or syphilitic ulceration, or virulent eruption, it substitutes therefore some chronic malady very difficult to cure. Contrast its effects with tgat of Bristol's Sarsapaailla. This pure vegeable disinfectant contains no element that is not revigorative, cleansing, and anti-septic. It does not expel poison by poison. Its operation is kindly, gentle, and in harmony with the efforts made by Nature to rid herself of the virus of skin-disease To this fact must be attributed the sound and vigorous condition in which it leaves the skin after eradicating its ailments. cj—f1

FIVE DAYS LATER.

Lisbon, Jan. 15th.

The Times of the 10th gives an account of the last moments of Napoleon III. On the night of the 8th the Queen's physicians Thompson, Gull and Paget, who were in attendance on the ex-Emperor visited him at 11 o'clock, and found him much better than the previous night, the pulse shewing 80 to 84, and the patient sunk in a deep sleep. The physicians proposed to perform another operation next day at noon, as they found him so much better at 9·45 on the morning of the 9th; the pulse was strong and regular at 84. Suddenly about half past 10 a.m. he began to shew signs of sinking, and the heart stopped at 10·45. The Empress, the physicians and the Rev. Dr. Goddard, parish priest of Chislehurst, were at the bedside when he died, the last rites of the Roman Catholic church having been performed. A few moments before he breathed his last the Empress stooped down to kiss him, and a faint smile was seen to light up the features of the dying man. A telegram had been sent an hour before to Woolwich Academy for the Prince Imperial who arrived just 15 minutes after his father had died.

Telegrams were immediately sent to the Queen, Prince of Wales, and various European Courts, and replies were received within a short interval.

Some papers state that the Queen had already paid a visit to the dying Emperor. The Prince of Wales had just returned from a hunting party, and when he heard the news begged Baron Anthony Rothschild, his entertainer, to postpone a fête which was to take place that evening in his honor. In like manner the Sandringham ball, fixed for the 17th, was put off till the 31st. The Emperor's remains were removed to the Church of St. Mary's, at Chislehurst, where a 'chapelle ardente' and Mass and Office for the Dead were in preparation for the 15th. Thiers appointed Marshal MacMahon to attend the obsequies, but it was doubted if the Marshal would accept the appointment.

The sensation caused in London by the news of Napoleon's death was so intense that the Times says it was similar to that observed on the death of Prince Albert. Business was suspended, the streets were filled with people, in spite of the heavy rain which fell all the night and morning: telegrams of the sad tidings were posted up in all the principal thoroughfares, and it seemed as if the Londoners had lost a valued friend.

The money article of the Times says: "The death of the Emperor Napoleon, which was known at noon, caused a profound feeling of regret. It was evident how much esteem all classes entertained for him, on account of his constant support of free trade principles and cultivation of friendly relations between France and England."

Dr. Conneau, the old friend and physician of the Emperor, as well as Baron Corvisart, was in attendance by his bedside from two in the morning. The Emperor made a will. The Prince Imperial, who is now seventeen years of age, remains with his mother at Chislehurst. During the illness of Napoleon the Empress bore up admirably and attended him assiduously, but she has since broken down so lamentably that fears are entertained for her life. The Queen paid her a visit of condolence. The physicians say the Emperor died not of bladder affection, nor of results from the operation, but of syncope, which produced a sudden stoppage of the heart without any visible cause. His Majesty would have completed his 65th year in April. A telegram from Rome says the Italian Parliament passed a vote of regret on Napoleon's death, the President calling to mind that Italy was signally indebted to him.

Some uneasiness is felt in England at the prospects of another war with China. It seems the Chinese have captured one town and laid siege to another near the frontiers of British India.

The Bank of England has reduced its rate to 4½, and will probably go down to 4, as money is so abundant. Erlanger's new Bank, called the London Bank of Commerce, capital half a million sterling, will have offices at London and Paris. Erlanger and his friends have taken up three fourths of the stock, the rest is open for the public. Mr. Vignal, formerly of Buenos Ayres, and now of Blacqué, Vignal & Co., of Paris, has started a Franco-Brazilian Bank, capital £400,000 stg. in 20,000 shares, of which 8,000 have been taken up in Rio Janeyro. £100,000 has been paid up, and another call of 25 per cent. is about to be made, as Mr. Piorson, manager for Brazil, starts this month to open the house there.

The Brazilian Minister Pereyra de Andrade has legalized all Lamas's documents, and condemned the opposition scheme, respecting the Platino-Brazilian Telegraph cable. The agents of Lamas & Co. have arranged everything for the laying of the cable to Montevideo by June of the current year.

The Queen of the Sandwich islands claims British protection, but the people go in for joining the United States.

The London and Westminster Bank gave a dividend of 20 per cent. for 1872, against 18 for the previous year. The Union Bank gave 10 for the half-year.

The Bank of France is going to make an emission of 110 million francs, for loans to new French railways. The stamp on bills of exchange has been reduced to half-a-franc for 2,000 francs.

The Spanish Chambers having passed a tax on all titles of nobility and decoration it is said all the grandees are imitating the example of Espartero and Serrano, and resigning their titles. Things are at sixes and sevens in Spain; Serrano says he will work no longer for King Amadeo, and the latter may possibly have to leave.

Victor Emmanuel talks of abdicating, perhaps on account of the suppression of religious orders. The special committee proposed to compensate all orders except the Jesuits, which the Parliament will not listen to.

A meeting of Catholics at Bonn protested against the Government of Berlin for having recalled its envoy from the Vatican. Bismarck declares that Germany will hold no more relations with the Pope.

The Khan of Khiva defeated a Russian army near Karatmak, and took that town, after which he advanced against the fortresses of Mangischlack and Embac. The Russians sent for reinforcements, and Col. Kolomtschoff penetrated into the dominion of Khiva, but was routed.

Mr. Secretary Fish has received complimentary replies from Madrid about the abolition of slavery in the Antilles. The number of slaves to be made free at Porto Rico will be about 30,000. Enthusiastic processions in Madrid, with banners, followed by 15,000 people, marched through the streets. The Carlists are getting worse in the north; at Pamplona they made the citizens pay up $12,000, under penalty of cutting off the water supply.

DEATH OF THE EMPEROR NAPOLEON.

London, Jan, 9th 1873.

The London evening paper Globe appears to-night in mourning in compliment to the memory of the late Emperor of the French, who died at a quarter past twelve this afternoon at Chislehurst. The Emperor for the last few days had suffered from an aggravate attack of stone in the bladder, and had submitted to two or three successive operations under the experienced hand of Sir Henry Thompson, assisted by Sir William Gull, Dr. Conneau, Dr. Corvoisart and the local medical attendants at Camden House. The operations had been pronounced successful, and the bulletins published in the papers and at the office of the "Lancet," in the Strand, did not until last evening occasion any alarm. Indeed by the last bulletin yesterday we were only told that the Emperor's general state remained as before, but the local symptoms were more severe.

What created a suspicion that all was not going on so well was the fact that the telegraph clerks at Chislehurst had to send for assistance and even other printing instruments to overtake the press of work. It was also known that the Empress and the Prince Imperial were seriously anxious. This morning two hours before the death of the Emperor, the report from Chislehurst was that he was a little better. The news of his death though not altogether unexpected was very sudden and has caused deep regret. Particulars of the Emperor's last moments are not yet published but you will receive them in the Times of to-morrow morning. It is so far understood that the Emperor died from exhaustion and comparatively without pain.

The death of Louis Napoleon closes an era; an era full of great events and strange oscillations of opinion, and in which the French nation has seen its highest glories and its worst defeats. The prologue to the era was the revolution, and the history of the era is almost comprised in the Consulate, the Empire, and the Second Empire, to which the restoration and the monarchy of July were mere interludes. Judged by outward results, the fruits of the revolution of 1792 have been far different to what the enthusiasts of that time who made it would have prophesied; and on the other hand they have been still more different to what its enemies have prophesied. It has produced neither a millennium of peace and brotherhood, nor a pandemonium of licence and barbarism.

It is now a year or two over half a century since the First Napoleon died at St. Helena, and in 19 short years some of us may be celebrating the centenary of the first French Revolution.

If we look out into this black, howling night of January 9th, 1873, and think of the dead Emperor at Chislehurst, and review the political events in our own lifetime, we cannot help inwardly scorning the old Carlylian theory that it is individual influence which moves the world. Emperors, however powerful, statesmen, and philosophers seem to us to precipitate events; but they are simply parts of the stream of events, bits of froth like the rest of us, or a little bigger or a little brighter, and so catch the eyes of the vulgar. Until we cease to worship these puppets, and turn our attention to the stream and its principle of motion as far as our intellects can reach it, we shall go on from century to century of great events, and have but little to show in the way of true progress. Look at Prince Bismarck! Stupid Germans worship him and still stupider Englishman echo their hymns; and he is at this moment outwitted by the Junker advisers of the old Emperor who at last began to fear that his Minister was too radical; and when Prince Bismarck returned from Varzin to scold the Emperor and threatened to resign, the old man quietly and as we are told "drily" wrote out an acceptance of the Minister's resignation. He remains nominally in the Cabinet so as not to outrage public opinion in Germany. Prince Bismarck is not a man to tamely submit to this treatment; and of course, we have not heard the end of what appears to be a very serious quarrel at the Prussian Court. Bismarck will out of spite grow more radical and more bitter against the aristocracy and the priests, but the opinion I quoted for you when I wrote from Paris is again gaining ground, that if he persists he will not attain his objects without another war! If he succeeds the vulgar will again fall down and worship; and yet all he will fight for at an enormous sacrifice of life will barely touch the great questions which are agitating European society and will have to be settled when another holocaust of lives are offered to mere differences of creed, and scarcely even of creed but of religions ceremonial.

Poor Louis Napoleon was right when he said that "Cavour would have obtained all Bismarck fought for and without firing a shot." The late Emperor was more contemplative than Bismarck, but quite as vain and intriguing; and, like all men who live by intrigue, he perished by intrigue. If he had followed his 'ideas' which were good, and not his sentiments, or those of his wife, which were weak, he would have died Emperor of France, and not have left Europe, as some people think it is at this moment, on the verge of another long and silly and sinful war.

MONTEVIDEO.

Tuesday, 4th.

Preparations for Carnival opportunely engross attention at the present moment, making the public for the most part forgetful of the election of President, to come off on Saturday week. No less than 2,000 $fts. have been subscribed in Calle 18 de Julio alone, to decorate that street. People are just in the humor to play Carnival this time, there being happily neither siege nor pestilence, as in so many former years.

The Telegrafo Maritimo proprietor, Mr. Bucla, has initiated a movement to raise funds for distressed families during the epidemic at Rio Janeyro. As he truly remarks, although the Brazilians are rich and open-handed, still there must be suffering and poverty in a crisis of the kind, and the present is a good opportunity for returning some of the kindness shewn us by Brazil during our own epidemics.

Mr. Crawford and his staff of engineers for the Santa Fé Railway caused a sensation when embarking yesterday evening in the Villa del Salto. Boats filled with tents, portmanteaus, surveying poles, chains, waterproofs, fowling-pieces, long boots, theodolytes, camp-beds, and all the 'impediments' usual to such good company. The Dog of the Regiment, an old water-spaniel that had assisted in making railways in Hungary, was left behind by the first boat, but afterwards sent aboard.

Mr. Prebble and some other gentlemen accompanied Mr. Crawford on board, where Captain Morse received the railway men with the cordial courtesy that is so characteristic of both branches of the service, per mare, per terram.

The Telegrafo says that the French gunboat Piquet is gone up to Paraguay in reference to the trouble between that Government and the French Consul.

A boat with seven men in the employ of Mr. Dan. Mc.unes capsized this morning off the Cerro, a sudden gust of wind catching the sail. The poor fellows would certainly have been drowned had not a boat belonging to Messrs. Johnson and O'Grady hastened to their rescue, picking all of them up before they had been ten minutes in the water.

The weather again looks rainy and as the month set in so it is likely we shall have broken weather for some time.

The quarantine term is the same, ten days. The Douro is looked for this evening.

The King restored to Health.
Steamship service to S. America.
Telegram to N. Y. Herald
Rome Dec 22nd 1872.

Steamship Communication with South America.

The firm of Lavarello in Genoa have arranged the bases of a contract with the Ministry of Public Works for the supply of a Steam Mail service between Genoa and the South American ports.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The mails from Europe and Brazil per the P.S.N.C. splendid steamer Sorata came up yesterday morning in the river steamer from the sister city, and were delivered at 11 o'clock a.m. In another column a 'precis' of the latest news, including particulars of the last moments of the Emperor Napoleon III. will be found. The Khan of Khiva has given the Russians a couple of smart drubbings, to begin with, and the Muscovites have sent for reinforcements. The sensation in London on the announcement of Napoleon's death has not been equalled, say the papers, since Prince Albert's death. The produce news is not as good as was thought on receipt of the first telegrams, in fact, wool is in an extremely 'comme ca' condition.

The rain on Tuesday night was very heavy, and has quite flooded the tract of country between Flores and Lomas. People living along the Terceros in town remained up all night, fearing that the waters would rise and wash them quite clean into 'Kingdom come,' or, at all events, into the Plate. We hear of no accidents, however.

We are half afraid to publish the following paragraph; but as it has been sent to us by a bachelor subscriber of undoubted respectability, and may be useful to some of our fair and fashionable readers, we do so. It is from that truly excellent paper, The New York Science of Health:—"Recipe to Make a Fashionable Woman.—Take 99 lbs. of flesh and bones—but chiefly bones—bore holes in the ears, cut off the small toes; bend the back to conform to the Grecian bend, the Boston dip, the kangaroo droop, or the Saratoga slope, as the taste inclines; then add three yards of linen, 100 yards of ruffles, 75 yards of edging, 18 yards of dimity, one pair of silk or cotton hose, six yards of flannel, embroidered, one pair of Balmoral boots with heels three inches high, four pounds of whalebone in strips, 260 yards of steel wire, half a mile of tape, two pounds of cotton or wire hemispheres, 50 yards of silk or other dress goods, 100 yards of point lace, 400 yards of fringe and other trimmings, twelve gross of buttons, one box of pearl powder, one saucer of carmine, one bushel of "store" hair, frizzled and fretted 'a la maniaque,' one quart of hair pins, one pound of braid, one lace handkerchief nine inches square, with patent holder, perfumed with attar of roses and musk, and 'clear the track!'"

We learn by the Sarota's mails that Colonel Macias, so well and favourably known here, has left Cuba for Washington as special agent for the revolutionists, to 'interview' the U.S. Government on the subject of the annexation of the Queen of the Antilles to the Great Republic. The Anglo-American Times, an American paper published in London, has issued a pamphlet containing all the debates in the Spanish cortes on the Cuban question. The matter is quite too heavy for our columns, but we shall be happy to lend the brochure to any Cuban reader in town, or those who take interest in the heroic struggle now going on in that lovely yet unhappy isle.

It was not a British Merchant who got the two queer birds from Paraguay recently, but a Brazilian Banker. 'N' importe,' one man's as good as another in this free country. It will cost the B. B. just as much to feed them as it would have the B M; and the creatures are certain to be sent over the Salt Lake, to amuse London Cockneys at the Zoological, and be pointed at as feathered specimens from the land where the 'Lincolnshire Farmers' are wallowing in milk, honey and mud.

The home papers have all taken from our columns the subject of the Magnetic Mountain which is supposed to have assisted the unfortunate Tacora to her doom. The matter has caused the greatest sensation in Liverpool, and there is question of a distinguished savant coming out to the Plate to report on the extraordinary discovery.

We regret to learn that Mr. Thomas Kearney, of Las Toscas, met with a severe accident lately. While assisting to harness a horse to his carriage, the animal became unmanageable, and finally upset itself, 'the trap' and Mr. Kearney 'all of a heap,' the gentleman's collar-bone being smashed in the 'melee.' We are happy to say the patient is going on favourably.

The system of decoying Italian emigrants to New York when they have paid their passages to South America is still flourishing, the great difference in the fare leaving swindling agents a splendid margin of profit. There are now over 2,000 destitute Italians in New York who have been tricked in this shameful way. It is about time for the National Government to see to this affair, and instruct its agents in Europe and Minister in New York to take vigorous action to expose and put a stop to the fraud, otherwise the effect on Emigration to the River Plate may prove most disastrous, and thousands of sturdy hands will prefer "to bear the ills they have, than fly to those they know not of" in a foreign land. An Italian emigrant in N. York is far more out of place than a fish out of water or a Maori in Tipperary, whereas in the Plate he is at home at once.

An energetic statistician has gone to the trouble of finding out that of the 27,000 houses in Buenos Ayres 26,783 "rained in" during the recent storms. What else could be expected? considering the wretched way in which the "palaces" of our plutocracy are run up without any supervision but that of the master builder, interested in doing the job as cheap as possible. In fifteen or twenty years Buenos Ayres will have to be rebuilt, and the faintest idea of an earthquake would send us and our houses to 'glory' together.

Julius Cæsar!! The very latest thing invented by the 'frisky matrons' of Hannibal, Missouri, U.S., is a Club called the 'Come Home Husband Club.' As ladies generally say 'no' when they mean 'yes,' and vice-versa, the right name ought probably to be the 'Stay in Town,' or 'You're not Wanted Husband, Club.' Some people are cynical enough to think that such an institution would flourish like wild strawberries here. We don't know.

We are in receipt of another letter from Chivilcoy reshecting the recent school row there. Nothing has yet been done, although every man, woman, boy, girl, cat, dog and pet canary in the town protested against the silly and arbitrary conduct of the Jack in office who threatened to suspend Mrs. de Bent's and another school because the teachers went to church. Mrs. de B., who is greatly esteemed in the town, meets support from all quarters, and, it is said, intends to 'cut the whole concern' and start a private school of her own. Meanwhile every one exclaims against the somnolency that has become so fashionable at the Provincial Government House in Buenos Ayres. It is a couple of months since the Governor was petitioned by the leading people of Chivilcoy to see justice done in this scandalous case, but Mr. Acosta is apparently too busy doing nothing to attend to it; and everything is at sixes and sevens in the schools, although they are kept open; in fact, cannot be shut up owing to the muddle going on.

Eureka! It's all up with the real coal discoveries, the prize offered by Government and so forth. An Italian has discovered a substitute for 'black diamond.' Read this colliers all—Ferrero for ever! (his great grandfather must have been an Irishman).—"An important discovery, according to the correspondent of the Swiss Times at Milan, has been made within the past month by Signor Ferrero, an amateur chemist, who, for many years, has made a special study of combustibles. He has succeeded in the invention of a substitute for coal, and the quality of which renders it most serviceable for machine and locomotive consumption and the extraction of gas, the refuse economised in a sort of coke for kitchen use. The process is extremely simple, and makes use of a raw materiol extremely abundant in Italy, whose combustible, gaseous qualities were unknown or unapplied until this invention. The cost of this new fuel will not exceed two lire the hundredweight.

Yesterday was so inexpressibly balmy after the rain that all the 'balm in Gilead' must have been used up to produce it. Delicious soft air, no sun, fleecy clouds, thermometer 78 in the shade, neither dust nor pampero; in fact 'a pet day,' but for some of the thousand odours of Cologne hanging about Calles Reconquista, Mayo, Cuyo, the butt end of Piedad and other favoured quarters near the river.

Le Courrier de la Plata published a good leader on the National Bank question yesterday. Our valued contemporary thinks with us that there is plenty of room for both the Provincial and National Banks 'to live and let live,' and opines that the only big customer the new concern will have in Buenos Ayres will be the Federal Government. Also, that it is doubtful if the notes of the National can circulate in this province, as the Federal pact of November, 1859, contains an article forbidding such.

All telegrams from Entre Rios yesterday gave the 'lie direct' to the recent reports about Jordan having invaded the province. Colonel Campos appears to have been as much deceived as anyone. Such an utterly bottomless canard has not been set a-wing for a long time. In Concepcion and Parana no one can obtain the faintest trace of who started the report or sent the bogus telegram to Buenos Ayres, and it is generally put down to the 'Bear' brokers on this Exchange.

A woman living in Calle San Juan gave birth to three children last week; all died shortly after.

A petition is being got up to the Provincial Government to reinstate Commissary Biedma in his former post in the Police force, from which he was dismissed for meddling not wisely but too well in the recent elections.

"The Boston Pilot, which has twice been burned out, says: 'We are just about tired of this phœnix business. We don't want to 'rise nobly from our ashes' any more.'"

A New York paper says that a construction train on the Atchinson, Leavenworth, and Santa Fé Railroad passed through a herd of buffaloes, on Nov. 25th, covering an extent of country ten miles long by two miles wide. Fenimore Cooper never came up to this.

The Royal Mail steamer Douro arrived at the Mount yesterday, and her mails will be delivered here to-day. She will have ten days' quarantine. Her news has been anticipated by the Sorata. Another Pacific steamer, with Lisbon dates to the 20th, is due in a day or two.

The printing-office of the Eco de Entre Rios, at Concepcion, was smithereened on the 1st inst. by a mob of political rowdies. Leading articles were kicked into 'pie,' advertisements made hash of, and 'puffs' demolished by the dozen, the whole ending in a general plantation 'walk round' that would have done honour to Mr. Wash. Norton and his (for the hour) unwashed troupe.

His Worship the Lord Mayor, Mr. F. Bernal, has resigned. No one knows why, and he won't tell. It is supposed somebody said something to him. Goodness knows.

All the persons about to appear in the Carnival 'comparsas' for the delectation of the almighty 'pop' can afford posterity an opportunity of admiring them in their buffoon costumes by calling on Mr. Rafael Heras, 121, Calle Piedras, who is getting up a monster album for the purpose—chromo-lithograph, gay expression of countenance, price nothing to speak of, etc. Mr. H. is evidently a gentleman who understands his epoch, and a queer epoch it is.

The Oficina de Trabajos did a prodigious business in January, placing over 1000 immigrants with the facility of a Paraguayan or Honduras bogus loan.

Bananas are the only things free of quarantine now at Montevideo. Everything else, from old boots to new babies, has to undergo it.

The town of Lujan was quite shocked last week by a servant girl in a respectable family destroying herself. Being wanted for some purpose about the house she could not be found, and on search being made was discovered hanging to a tree in the garden quite dead. No one can account for the terrible act. The poor girl was only 17 years of age.

For the last couple of days people either swim or row in boats to market at Quilmes and San Fernando. At the former lordly spot people are so suffocated with indignation at the scheme for emptying the city sewage under their noses that they dont mind the inundation, in fact rather like it. 'Apres nous le Deluge'—of sewage—is now the motto of Quilmes. It will be neck or nothing to make money out of the place before the fatal and odorous day comes.

There was a battle royal between Drs. Alsina and Bilbao before the "Juri" on Tuesday. Dr. A. opened the ball with a thunder and lightning speech. Dr. B. retorted rattlesnakes and cataracts of eloquence, declaring that he wouldn't look the same side of the streets as his quondam friend Dr. A. as long as his spirit remained in this best of all possible worlds. Dr. A. then went at it again, and intimated that he hoped to survive the loss of Dr. B's friendship. Dr. B. produced a letter, which was handed in as evidence, and concluded his speech amidst tremendous cheering from all sides of the court. Dr. A. then "wired into" the 'traitor,' who gave the letter to Dr. B. and the Bar kicked up such a prodigious row that the Court was cleared by order of the Judge and Jury.

The Politica tells a story of a Lacrozze tram car being hailed the other day in Calle Piedad by two showily dressed females of rather fast aspect. 'Will you take us for nothing?' asked one of the fair ones. 'It aint usual with us to carry people for nothing Mum,' replied the guard. 'Then you wont.' 'No.' As the car moved on the ladies looked as if it would do them a world of good to let off a little Billingsgate, but they did not and merely said 'Adios entonces; gracias generoso!"

Mr. Ben Bates (who may fairly be christened for the moment Ben Bolt) the fugitive Governor of San Juan, has addressed a manifesto of the usual cold tea and hot toast style to the "provincias hermanas". It may all be summed up in a line (barring the bathos) Ben wants to get back as Governor of Saint Johnny, and hopes the National Government will intervene. Commercial Buenos Ayres hopes most emphatically it will not.

"Among the old things 'run out' last night were the gambling hells of Germany. Wiesbaden and Homburg, if they are to live at all, must now offer to the tourist some more honest sources of excitement and pleasure—for them there is now an utter end of rouge et noir. A correspondent of the Daily News at Wiesbaden tells us that the Kursaal there has been densely thronged during the last days of the year, the devotees of the tables eagerly availing themselves of the brief respite allowed them. Indeed, the whole season—the last of a hundred—has been a 'splendid success,' the shareholders having received interest on their capital at the rate of 107 per cent per annum. It must be hard to lose all prospect of such gains in the future, and what is to become of the whole army of croupiers? Some of them, it is said, have been retained by M. Blanc for service at Monaco, which has become the last refuge of the inveterate gambler; while others are settling down into the quiet ways of trade—rather a hard thing, it may be imagined, for most of them.

The following about Sir Edward Thornton (a diplomatist as well and favourably known as any man that ever came out to the Plate) and the horse disease will interest those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance: it is from a London paper:—

"A despatch has recently been received at the Foreign Office from Sir E. Thornton, the English Minister at Washington, which, while interesting in itself in its immediate relation to the subject treated upon, also illustrates how various are the subjects on which her Majesty's representatives are expected to write. Ever since the day when Manchester men induced the Government to ask for commercial reports from their Consuls abroad, the service has, in the eyes of the old school of diplomats, been going to the dogs, and in their eyes the veterinary report of Sir E. Thornton on the recent epidemic among horses in America will be a downright prostitution of ambassadorial talent. Sir E. Thornton tells us nothing new, excepting the treatment of his own horses. He states that he had five of them affected with the epidemic. He says: 'I clothed them well, put flannel bandages upon their legs, and kept the stable well ventilated, though not cold, but temperate. I gave them hot bran-mashes, with about a tablespoonful of nitre, till their bowels were sufficiently relaxed. Their oats were reduced to about a third, and were always scalded, and the same allowance of hay was given. As the running from the nose became thicker and more offensive, and the cough more violent and evidently painful, their throats were rubbed with a strong embrocation, which nearly blistered them. This seemed to afford great relief. During the whole time of the running from the nose it was constantly sponged with about one part of carbolic acid to 20 of water, which served also as a disinfectant for the stable. Contrary to the advice and practice of most of my neighbours, I caused my horses to be gently exercised every day when it did not rain, and they seemed to experience great relief from their airing. It was during it that in coughing and sneezing they got rid of great quantities of offensive matter. In the open air they were more clothed than in the stable. During the illness they were never off their feed. In four weeks they were well, and now they seem as if they had never had the disease."

"A city fop who was taking an airing in the country, tried to amuse himself by quizzing an old farmer about his bald head, but was extinguished by the old man, who solemnly remarked, "Young man, when my head gets as soft as yours, I can raise my hair to sell."

National Bonds	81

The Bond market rules upward, and has completely regained what it lost last week during the bank question. Cedulas, on the other hand, are still ½ under their former figure. Bonds after all seem a more speculative stock, and in the hands of fewer holders. The news from Europe brightened everything on the Bolsa. One or two parties held the River Plate share list, but as a general rule the ring knew nothing of the great rise in the London market in some of the River Plate stocks; and it was evidently thought just as well that they should not know for the present. The sales in bonds were very trifling; buyers for cash were offering, but no sellers, and only the following sales made on time:—

For February 28th, 25,000 at 81¼.
For March 31st, 20,000 at 82.
Do. do. 10,000 at 81½.
Do. do. 40,000 at 82

In Cedulas there were numerous sales of Series A, but all at the uniform price of 98; total sales 45,800. In the liquidation several sales of Bonds for end of March made at 82.

Money ruled cheaper to-day than yesterday by fully 1 per cent. At the bank meeting to-day almost everything offered was done, there were no complaints and discounts in the street ruled from 8 to 9.

The Douro entered Montevideo early this morning and brought the rather extraordinary news of eight steamers lying at St. Vincent for want of coal. It is supposed that they must lie there for some time; the names of the steamers are in the telegram; this is really a most unlooked for occurrence.

Exchange ruled as follows to-day:—

On England, 49¼ Bank.
" " 49⅝-49¾ Commercial, takers at ½.
On Antwerp 5·28-5·29. A large business done in francs to-day at ·28; neither Government has taken exchange for this packet; the large business done yesterday was for account of a native house.

The high standing of Argentine enterprise on the London Stock Exchange is brought into relief by the following quotations. Of these, Uruguay Consols recently selling at 73 now worth 83, and the rise in city of Buenos Ayres tramway to 80 per cent prem. are the most noteworthy. Even old River Plate residents are surprised but it is probable that in the course of the current year all our foreign stocks will be like the Chilian over par, for the resources of this country are infinitely greater than Chile.

The Wanklyn or Hard dollar loan has steadily advanced to 84½ ex dividend and this without any of these bonds having been amortized in London, the demand is continuous as many prefer selling the higher priced Argentine stocks and re-investing in the cheaper Wanklyn loan: when once the bonds in this market are changed they will be good buying as an exchange operation and when we notice how enormously this is availed of in the United States bonds with large profits to bankers, we hope to see Minister Dominguez soon carry out the change of bonds as ordered by Congress.

The Douro leaves to-night, and willl be up in the morning.

Some large transactions in wool are spoken of as having been done in the depoits within the last few days by three well known exporters; prices not stated.

Owing to the great rains there is very little now entering the Plazas in bullock carts. The state of the roads, rivers and camps, owing to the incessant rains, is dreadful. Two leading export merchants left this city for Bahia Blanca via Azul, some days ago. They only reached as far as Tandil, physically and morally done up: horses also. They have arrived back in town and their description of how they found the camps in the South baffles credence. The horses also are very bad. Upon the whole, the present is not the best time for such excursions.

A late telegram from Answerp says—

"Old wools a little better, common and lamb 10 cents higher; new wool about covers"

A German merchant informs us that Sorata is the name of one of the highest of the Andes peaks 22,000 feet, and close to Lake Titicaca.

The meeting at the Popular Argentina came off. An ordinary dividend of 17½ pats. for shares of 2nd series, and 157½ pats. for shares of 1st series, was declared; reserve fund increased by 15,888 36/100 pats. Reserve fund now 50 per cent. of capital invested in series A. A committee named to revise the accounts, composed of the following gentlemen:—

M. A. de Freitas Amorim.
Cruz Benavidez.
Adolf Scharff.

Messrs. Oostendorp & Co's. annual report of the Antwerp market has arrived per Sorata. It is most exhaustive and by far the best annual report we have seen from that market.

Mr. Nathan's tables from Rio have come. They are of immense size, and show all the Rio transactions for the past year.

The Transandine Telegraph was completed to San Juan yesterday, and the inauguration took place with the official telegrams exchanged between the Governor of San Juan and President Sarmiento. The line is placed gratis by the company at the disposal of the public for communication to-day, and is from this date delivered for public service. The works are finished when the line is most required for settling present difficulties.

The Sorata's mails have brought to the Plate a budget of indeed brilliant news. The year 1873 has opened bright in London for the River Plate. Long-pending concessions and schemes have again come uppermost, and our special London Correspondent writes that "the concession of Messrs. Rubio and Foley for a railway to Lujan has been negociated: the business is not finally settled, but may be regarded as closed. The Mendez Tramway is also in treaty, and in all probability will be arranged before long." There are several other River Plate matters on the tapis in London which will be brought out before a month is about. Money is getting so easy in London that we may look for a further diminution of the Bank rate. The splendid traffic returns of the River Plate railways, the enormous premium on City Buenos Ayres Tramway shares, and the high and rising price of Argentine Stocks in Europe, have won the financial mind of Europe to everything Platine, and it looks as if everything offered from the Plate in London this year, will be done, and done well. Then again, commercial circles in England connected with the Plate are in good spirits. The past year has proved so favourable that Manchester, Liverpool, and London merchants are willing to extend their business operations with a country that gives such good returns. The orders received from the Plate are on such a scale that they attract notice at the great workshops, and people who before never heard of the River Plate are now reading about this country. The trade relations between the two countries are expanding enormously; almost everything shipped to the Plate during the year has paid, and paid well. The people in London connected with River Plate railways are in favor of the Rosario Railway. The new company has not been launched, but the scheme is so well backed that none can doubt its success.

The Times of Jan. 1st in its city article writes the following pertinent remarks on the past, present and future of the London Money market—

Tuesday Evening.

"The financial anticipations expressed at the opening of 1872 have been almost precisely fulfilled, and with regard to the year now commenced there are at present no prominent features to excite conjecture. The numerous drawbacks to the trade of the past 12 months, in the shape of an unparalleled enhancement in the prices of staple articles, the heavy cost of extra grain importations, and the check to production by strikes, have still not been such as to prevent the surplus national profits from attaining to an enormous total, a though less, perhaps, than that of the preceding year, and there is every sign of a continuance of this activity. While such profits are in progress constant outlets will be demanded for them, and foreign loans and home and foreign enterprise of all kinds will therefore come upon a not unwilling market. As to the only three causes which might suggest uneasiness—the heavy financial accounts still to be settled on the Continent, the probable effect of the late rains on the next harvest, and the possible disorganization of labor by strikes more extensive than any witnessed—comparatively little anxiety need be entertained. The manner in which the transactions between France and Germany have thus far been adjusted removes all doubt as to the smoothness with which these operations may be finally carried through; a deficiency in the wheat harvest, such as would formerly have produced a crisis, is now, with free imports, capable of touching only a small percentage of our aggregate gains; and the disastrous consequences of strikes are neutralised, so far as our competition with the manufacturing nations of the world is concerned, by the circumstance of the evil being general. Hence for 1873 there is little to be said beyond a repetition of the promises which seemed to attend upon 1872. But the fact must be kept in view that we are a year nearer to that periodical convulsion which has marked every decade of our modern commercial history, and which, from all that can be observed, instead of being henceforth unlikely to be repeated, may be calculated with greater certainty than ever and probably at an accelerated instead of a deferred date. Next year seven years will have elapsed since the panic of 1866, and at the best we can trust to little more than a couple of years before preparations should be made for another storm. No distinct signs of the direction whence it will arise can yet be traced, but there is reason to believe that the old form of the concoction of joint-stock schemes will have little part in it. These concerns, when deceptively started, are now in most cases so easy of exposure that there is, with the exception of the incorrigible dupes always to be found among hardworking clergymen and doctors and women with small incomes, scarcely any public to which they can appeal with a hope of of success. The peril will come from some much more insidious channel, and it is open at least to surmise that this may be found in the enormous extent the exchange transactions of the world have reached, which renders it far more difficult than in former times to detect and check the circulation of spurious paper. During the past autumn the tendency to the manufacture of such paper was suddenly made apparent and instantaneously corrected by the vigilance of the Bank of England, but its sources were then transparent in connexion with the financial contrivances between France and Germany, and the mercantile operations of this and the other great trading nations had evidently not become contaminated with the system. Whether with the universal increase of banking facilities now apparent, especially on the Continent, this immunity will be much longer preserved is, perhaps, the grand question to which attention should henceforth be directed. The need for such caution is rendered particularly urgent by the vague condition of foreign politics. Whether there is to be a new readjustment of the map of Europe, a war of revenge, or fresh social disturbances, every one is conscious that the present condition of affairs affords no ground for quiet confidence. As has already been said, the time is gone by since bad harvests or large local mercantile, banking, or industrial failures could produce wide-spread ruin; but there can be little doubt that a sudden outbreak of political alarm, were it to occur at a moment when the commitments of modern trade had assumed their widest expansion, could not fail to be followed by an amount of disaster as much beyond all former experience as has been our commercial growth during the interval since 1857, the last date of a crisis of that description."

The American mail received this morning has brought the following important intelligence:—

Messrs. Lavarello and Co. of Genoa have arranged the basis of a contract with the Minister of Public Works in Rome for the supply of a steam mail service between Genoa and South America. Captain Lavarello is well and favorably known in Buenos Ayres, and has a house of business both in this market and Genoa. The representative of the house here is J. Lavarello.

The following respecting the Italian emigration swindle shows that this nefarious business is on the increase. When we first called the attention of the Government to the matter there were only 300 Italians landed at New York, but according to the mails received to-day there are now no less than 2,000 there. It is about time that the Argentine and Italian Governments interfere to stop this heartless swindle.

"Another shipload of destitute Italian emigrants has been landed at New York to be a burden upon the authorities of that city. They are in a very sad condition, almost without clothing, and having no means of earning a living. The New York Emigration Commissioners have now 2000 of these people in charge. Enterprising emigration agents in Europe induced them to sail, holding out brilliant prospects, and this is the result. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Government at Washington, and the Italian Minister there has also communicated with his Government. The Secretary of State has also directed Mr. Marsh, American Minister in Italy, to inform the Italian Foreign Secretary of the misfortunes of these emigrants and he will suggest that all persons contemplating emigrating to America be counselled against doing so in the winter months, unless their circumstances be such that, failing to get work here as expected, suffering will not ensue. There seems to be a worse set of sharpers surrounding the emigrant in Italy then in any other portion of Europe, but it is believed that the Italian Government will take steps to protect these unfortunate people in future. In reference to this subject, the Italian Society in New York held a meeting on the evening of Sunday, December 15, at which in some of the speeches made the Italian Government was strongly denounced for its conduct in relation to the emigration of so many of the Italian poor to this country. The Italian Consul at New York was also critized for failing to make any satisfactory explanation of the causes of the migration. The meeting determined to send a memorial to Congress expressing their decided opposition to what they styled "this infamous white slave trade." The Italians in New York believe that their Government is engaged covertly in stimulating the migration of paupers to America."

The bark Emanuel P. from B. Ayres with loss of sails and bulwarks has put into Falmouth.

Messrs. Rubio & Foley despatched the steamer San Christavao for Rosario this morning; she has just been painted and refitted and is now one of the finest steamers running in the river; no expense was spared in her refittings and she left this morning crowded with passengers.

A staff of Messrs. Waring Bros Engineers left this morning by 10 o'clock train for Santa Fe they go to survey the new line from Santa Fe to the colonies. We wish them well, the line is an important one and will prove an immense convenience to the colonies.

The Astarte, with a clean bill of health, is looked for in port in the morning from Montevideo.

The Ville de Rio, owing to the bad weather, could not get away. She sails to-morrow.

We learn that a new line of American steamers is about to be started in Boston or New York, to run between either of those ports and Valparaiso, calling at Montevideo. A move in the right direction.

The English Consul in Rio is the party blamed for detaining the American mails per Ontario from 19th Jan. to 1st Feb.

The Treasury has paid some bills for proveduria to Lanus & Lezica. Also 17,378 pats. in money, and an order to Murrietta & co., of London, for 19,821 in Public Works bonds to the Tucuman Railway contractors, Also 4000 pats. to Mr. James Hennessey, for vencimiento.

"Market report, Jan. 9th, 1873—

"W.S. Ox and Cowhides.—As expected, the opening of the new year has brought with it an active demand for this article. The only arrivals have been a few parcels, sold afloat, and the whole stock in Liverpool and London does not exceed 1500 hides.

"The demand for leather is very active, and at prices remunerative to tanners, so that all parcels of hides coming forward soon may expect to realise good prices. Afloat 8¾ could be easily obtained for River Plate of good shipping weight, and 8⅞ to 8¾ for Rio Grande.

"In Antwerp there is equal animation, and quotations for River Plate ox are f.86 to 90 for fair to good, and ditto cows 87 to 94.

W. S. Hides. There is not much change to note in the position of this article. Good Buenos Ayres are worth 16s to 16s 6d per hide, but stocks are moderately large at present, whilst the enquiry is not very brisk.

"Tallow—Dullness is still the characteristic of this produce, and the markets both here and in Liverpool and on the continent are far from active. Although the import of Russian and Australian during the last year shows a decrease. South American shows about an equal quantity of about 3500 casks, and the home produce a very considerable increase. These facts coupled with a decreased demand for consumption have brought tallow to its present level. Holders, however, keep pretty firm, and look for better prices in the spring, which, with a good consumptive demand, may be realised. Present quotations are about 43/9 to 44/3 fair to fine beef, and 42/6 to 43/6 fair to fine mutton.

"Wool.—There is little of importance to note in this staple. Only about 13,000 bales have so far arrived for the next series of Colonial sales, which are to commence on 13th prox, and for which it is expected about 150,000 bales will be due.

"With regard to the future, the tendency at present is certainly to lower rates; but, while on one hand there seems no reason to fear any violent reaction, there are still not wanting considerations which should prevent too sanguine hopes as to the result of ensuing season. Prices are still very high, and it must not be forgotten that during last season colonial wools probably reached the highest value on record. The supply too considering the advices so far received from the River Plate will once more show a sensible increase. On the Continent as here business as usual at this season is quiet. At Bordeaux a sale of about 7,000 bales wool and skins is fixed for 15th inst and following days.

Sheepskins. There is but little business to note since the public sales on 11th and 12th ult, but as fellmongers are well supplied and the demand for pulled wool is not so brisk it is expected that slightly lower rates may rule at next auctions.

Hair.—Without change mixed still keep in fair demand whilst in tail there is but little movement.

Nutrias.—Still remain at 11d to 11¾ per lb. but stocks are heavy for the article.

Bone, Ash and Bones.—The market is flat and quotations nominal £5 5s to £5 7s 6d Ash; and £6 10s to £6 15s Bones.

Money Market.—The Bank rate was reduced to-day to 4½ per cent which occurrence had been generally expected, the easier tone of the market quite warranting it. So far everything points to the continuance of easy money but it must not be lost sight of that a revival of the German demand for gold would soon place us again in the unpleasant position of a stringent money market.

"United States.—By letters we have dates to 27th ult., and by cable to yesterday; at the former date there was little doing owing to the holidays, but produce showed no change in quotations. Yesterday gold closed to 112¼ and Exchange on London at 109¾."

Fomenth, M.V.	22

Over a thousand shares of Fomento Montevideano changed hands to-day, suffering violent fluctuations in price. They opened at 23, rose rapidly to 24½, dropped suddenly to 20, and closed at 22. The transactions were—

The other business consisted of 250,000$ of Internal Debt at 68 for the end of March; 5,000$ of Extraordinary Debt at 66 for end of February, and 100,000$ at 66½ for the same date.

The Sorata made a fine run out, arriving last evening with Lisbon dates to January 15th (19 days). The Douro was in Rio, and is expected to-night. The German steamer Sakkarah also arrived last night. It seems the Santa Rosa is at Cape Verds (St. Vincent) and without coal.

Mr. Chisholm, agent of the Underwriters, returned to-day to the West Coast per Sorata, after a stay of 3 months in Montevideo.

The commercial news per Sorata may be summed up in a few words. Wool the same as before; tallow dull: dry hides in demand.

Respecting Erlanger's new London Bank of Commerce some suppose it is the Wanklyn Bank under a new name as the Banco Comercial of Montevideo opposed the title it had adopted. The papers however say that Erlanger offers one-fourth of the shares for subscription, whereas Wanklyn's shares are quoted at 3½ prem.

The Villa del Salto brought yesterday $8815 for Maua Bank. She had a large number of passengers for Buenos Ayres and the Uruguay when leaving last night.

Much blame is thrown on the Post office authorities of Rio Janeyro for not having sent down the United States mails that arrived per Ontario.

Among the passengers saved from the Santana were 5 Spaniards and 23 from the Canary islands.

The Telegrafo says it is rumoured the Government will stop the Tiber's packet privileges for having refused to pay the light-dues.

Apesteguy Bros. have contracted for 1000 pipes tallow at 19¾ aboard; and a Fray Bentos saladero for 10,000 qq. jerked beef for Brazil at reserved price.

KEARNEY VERSUS FARLEY.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE "STANDARD."

SIR, a Letter appeared in yesterday's issue, signed "Thomas Kearney," saying than the Juez de Crimen, in Mercedes, had gived no decision in the case between "Kearney and Farley," and that he appealed to the High Court in Buenos Ayres.

No words of mine can alter the decision come to by the Judicial Authorities, and the fact stands that the Juez de Crimen in Mercedes dismissed Kearney's charges against me and the Superior Court here confirmed the judgment, and ordered the Escribano, Miliavacca, to tear up, in the presence of Dn. S. P. Maclan, the insulting document of Thomas Kearney, attempting to appeal from the decision of the Courts, and dismissed in toto the Plaintiff's case.

(Signed),
EDWD FARLEY.

SAVINGS BANK

BANK MAUA AND C O.

101--Calle Cangallo--103

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current is now so generally felt and appreciated in the great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Maná & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally intersted in puting their savings out at interest, thus providing hemselves with a reserve fund in case of need ances, or old age, instead of spending them in mmoral gambling, in lotteries, and other rivolities.

The Bank of Maná & Co. of this city, following noble example of their firm in Montevideo, ill offer the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositors a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interes will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Maná & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Maná & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P. P. MAUA & Co.,

M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM

Bristol's sarsaparilla

Is prepared in the most scientific manner, by thoroughly educated chemists and Druggists, who have had many years' experience. It is not a simple extract from one article, but is compounded of extracts from a number of Roots, Herbs Barks, and Leaves, all of which are possessed of some particular virtue or power in curing the diseases that have their source in the blood and humors; these different vegetable extracts are combined in such a way as to retain, in so full strength, the special curative virtue possessed by each. The root of the Sarsaparilla plants found in Honduras, is that which we use in this preparation; it is the kind which all medical men esteem most. About fifty per cent. of Bristol's Sarsaparilla consists of the concentrated extract, the remainder, as above stated being composed of extracts from other powerful, cleansing and healing vehetable substances. It does not contain any thing that is dagerous or injurious to health, and in this, as in nearly every other respect, is entirely different from all other preparations sold under the name of Sarsaparilla.

By having our own agents at he places where the various roots, druge, herbs and plants, composing our medicines, are produced, we are enabled to exercise that constant care in selection which insures uninformity of excellence, and we spare no money and no effort to procure the best—and only the best—of every article entering into their composition; and it is with the most abiding confidence we say, to be sick of all nations and all countries, that, in Bristol's Sarsaparilla you have a remedy more reliable than any before offered to you, and which will no disappoint you in the cure of.

Salt Rheum, Tetter, Scald Head,
Syphilis, or Venereal Disease,
Nervous and General Debility,
Old Sores, Ulcers, Tumors,
Abscesses, Boils, Eruptions
Scrofula or King's Evil,
Female Derangements,
White Swellings,
Fever and Ague,
Chills and Fever, & Dumb Ague.

As a means of building up the consititution that has been broken down by the excessive use of Mercury, Iron, or other Minerals, our Sarsaparilla will be found most excellent, and can be administered with safety to the weakest patients. As a purifier of the blood and humors, in the Spring and early Summer, it will the found unfailing. It can be taken freely at seasons, rainy or dry. For some of the above diseases, the use of the Sarsaparilla must be continued a considerable time, especially for those that are hereditary or constitutional in their nature—such as Scrofula: but a faithful compliance with the directions will always relieve and eradicate, and in a great majority of cases will effect a complete cure. It will also be found, in all of the above diseases, that a cure will be greatly hasted by using our Bristol's Sugar-coated Pills, in moderate does, in connection with the Sarsaparilla; they carry off large quantities of morbific or diseased matter set free in the system by the Sarsaparilla, and in this way facilitate the return to ormal functional operations. —cj— 46
